CATALLOVE

WE HAVE A STORY FOR EVERY CHILD

All of Egmont is a Foundation

We have no owners, but a vital commitment to do well and do good. The profits from all our companies are either reinvested in our media or donated to help children and young people at risk.

We give back to the next generation.

We support initiatives that help children and young people in Scandinavia. And we have given back to society for more than 100 years; it is a part of our DNA.

Egmont was made into a foundation in 1920. It was the last will of our founder – the entrepreneur Egmont Harald Petersen – that a part of the company's profit should be used on helping children and families in need. Today, we work to ensure that all young people can have an education and a good life

More than 100 years of giving back.

About us

Saga Kids is a global imprint of digital children's books. Our purpose is to inspire a lifelong love of reading from a very young age.

Whether they're looking for fairy tales, mysteries, love stories, adventure, sci-fi, superheros, non-fiction, or even yoga and meditation, we have a book for every child.

As part of the Egmont Foundation,
Saga Kids reinvests
all of our profits into building great media and supporting vulnerable
children, young people
and families.

Our audiobooks and e-books can be enjoyed on all major international and local digital book platforms, to stream and to download. You can find our stories on Audible, Storytel, Spotify, Nextory, BookBeat, Google Play, Kindle Store, Apple iBooks Store and many more.

Manifesto

We publish audiobooks and e-books spanning multiple languages and cultures, and our mission is to spark joy and create space for imagination, fun, excitement, playful learning and adventures through literature well-suited for kids and families.

We curate a catalogue of the best children's books with the intention to empower and enlighten all children.

We publish children's books which are inclusive.

We embrace diversity,
different cultures,
different languages and
different realities.

We know
that every child
has their own
perspective on life, and we want to make room
for all perspectives
as equals – across
ages, backgrounds and genders.

We think that literature is a great and crucial part of life, and we want all children to be able to access the books of great authors, set in exciting universes. We want to set children's literature free; we want children's books to be heard and read across the globe. This is why we believe in the digital format. A great children's book is, in its essence, a story that comes across in accessible formats.
